

we are strongly opposed to any weakening of wisconsin's no-call list. Unsolicited phone calls had greatly disrupted our evenings before this law was passed - we were receiving up to 10 calls per night. If businesses have a right to call us for 18 months after we terminate their services, that would be harrassment and would once again mean that we would be unable to answer our phone in the evening.